History

This Chatuskuta temple stands on an adhisthana. Adjoining four garbhagrhas is a common sabhmandapa. A Sivalinga is enshrined in the north garbhagraha. The south and the east garbhagrhas have Surya images and the garbhagraha which is west has idols of Naga Naginies. Each garbhagraha has a Panchasakha door frame and a Gajalakshmi motif is in their lalatabimbhas. In the sabhmandapa are four free standing pillars and a Nandi at the centre? its ceiling has Bhuvanesvari. The temple has entrances on the east and west. The temple has a brick sikhara.

Original deities in the garbhagrhas seem to be missing.

Inside the temple is an inscription of Vijayanagara period. It records tax grant by Immadi Singanayaka..
